WILL DECIDE HOW GERMANY IS TO SETTLE

Not Believed Now That Allies Will Ask Her to Settle for All Damage Done.

(By Associated Press) Paris, May 4.—Premier Millerand is leaving for London next week to confer with David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, regarding financial questions. It is expected an agreement will be reached upon the line of action to be adopted concerning Germany with regard to execution of the reparations clauses of the Treaty of Versailles. The premier will also agree on the basis of the discussion to be held with the German representatives at the Spa meeting on May 24th in line with the understanding reached by the supreme council at San Remo that the allies would not discuss before the Germans any questions upon which they were not in accord among themselves. Prominent among the points to be taken up in London will be interpretation of the reparations clauses and the form in which the German delegates at Spa will be told what the allies insist upon. French published opinions which a year ago would not accept the possibility of Germany not paying for all the damage she caused, is considered now to be prepared to take a more moderate view. THREE MILLION ACRES OF WHEAT

Winnipeg, May 4.—About 3,000,000 acres are available for wheat cultivation in Manitoba this year. The average yield of wheat for the last 10 years is 17 bushels per acre.

PEPPERRELL COVE

Pepperrell Cove, May 4.—Railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac have agreed to ask for 30 per cent of freight rates. They are now 20 percent above water rates so this will make them 50 per cent above the later rate. The remedy—use the inland waterways.

Not only the waterway but the ocean is not used now. The world war has made the ocean a liability instead of an asset.

As we seem the ocean day after day we are reminded of the saying of the poet, "A gray and melancholy waste, not a salt in sight."

The beautiful ship launched by the Atlantic Corporation Saturday reminds us of the fine ships built by the late Mr. Donald at that shipyard. He built many ships and vessels, among them the schooner Annie M. Condon and ship Jean Ingelow. The latter was a beautiful ship. She was lost with all hands on her second voyage to China. The name of the ship reminds us of many of the poems of her namesake, among them sea poems on the "High Tide on the coast of Newfoundland," a sea song, Sea News in Winter, Sailing Beyond Seas, the Mariner's Grave.

The launching of the steamship Brooklyn also reminds us of what Paul Jones said of the launching of the America from Badger's Island. "The launching of the 74-gun ship America was a most serious problem. She was 152 1-2 ft. long. As the ship was too large and heavy for the narrow waterway between Badger's Is-

MORE AMERICANS MURDERED IN MEXICO

U. S. Destroyers Ordered to All Atlantic Mexican Ports.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 3.—The murder of two more Americans in Mexico is giving officials here considerable concern, and they are watching developments. There was nothing to indicate to what extent the murder would effect the Washington attitude toward the Sonora revolution. The murders occurred in Carranza occupied territory.

On the border the reported closing of the port of Juarez, would have a serious effect upon the Federal, as it is the source of a big income from tax collections.

The murdered Americans are Eben Greenlaw and his young son, at Elora only 125 miles from Mexico City. The American embassy at once demanded that the murderers be arrested and brought to justice.

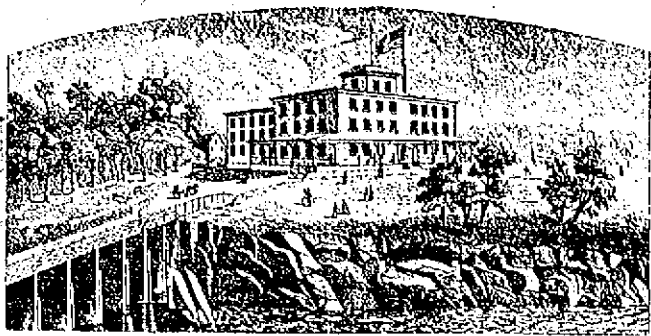

Destroyers will be stationed at Tampico, Tuxtepec, Vera Cruz and Fronteras ready to take off Americans who are in danger from either the Federal or revolutionists.

Juarez, May 3.—Juarez has not joined the Sonora revolution but has severed relations with the Carranza government. In the proclamation it is stated that the city will remain neutral until a stable government is established.

THE ORIGINAL HOTEL WENTWORTH

The Herald is fortunate in being able to present to its readers today a picture of the original Hotel Wentworth. It is believed that it is the only one to be found in this city, and not one of the "old timers" to whom it was shown ever saw one like it.

The idea of a hotel on the site of the Wentworth was first suggested by C. E. Campbell who lived nearby and who for years conducted a summer boarding house. One of his patrons was C. H. Chase a wealthy liquor dealer of Boston. Mr. Campbell interested Mr. Chase and the men erected the hotel as seen in the picture. It was a big success from the start and many of the best people in the country passed their summers there.

In after years the late Hon. Frank Jones, who had passed a number of summers at the hotel, became interested and he purchased the place. Mr. Jones enlarged it on two different occasions making it one of the finest hotels on the Atlantic coast and one which became famous all over the world as the home of the Russian-Japanese peace envoys during the treaty hearings being held by them at the navy yard. The present hotel is about five times as large as the original building.

Foolish Fear of Food Shortage.

Discussion of farming conditions and prospects goes merrily on, among those taking part being some who predict a great lessening of production this year, owing chiefly to the scarcity of farm help and the high wages demanded. From Iowa comes a report that farmers there are offering good men $145 a month and board. This sounds a little extravagant, but whether it is true or not, it is well known that farm wages in all parts of the country are higher than ever before and that it is difficult to get the men needed, no matter what wages are offered.

In a communication to a New England newspaper a few days ago a farmer who evidently knows what he is talking about attributes the difficulty in securing farm help chiefly to the eight-hour day, which prevails in practically all other fields of labor. He speaks of the time, thirty years ago, when he worked on a farm at $20 a month and board, and says he worked from twelve to fourteen hours a day, as did all farm workers at that time. People who remember those days are aware that this was the rule at that time and that it was in force for some years thereafter, but in recent years the farm day has been steadily shortening until today in many places it is eight hours. And while the time was being cut down wages were rapidly going up, as is well understood by all who have given any attention to the subject.

The writer of the communication referred to regrets that the eight-hour day has reached the farm, but under the circumstances he can see no help for it, although the farmers and their families are still privileged to work much longer, and in most cases are compelled to. He endorses the call for greater production, but he wants this in all lines and thinks it unfair to urge the farmers to greater effort while other workers put in eight hours a day and spend the rest of the time in such diversion as they may choose.

But these are the conditions and, for the present at least, it is impossible to change them. There is nothing to do but to accept them as they are and make the best of them.

However, as this paper has before said, there is no ground for discouragement or the fear of famine. Secretary of Agriculture Meredith has recently called attention to the fact that there are more acres under cultivation in the country today than ever before, that the land is producing more to the acre than ever before and that the production is greater per capita than ever before. This information is based on a careful study of all the facts and not on neighborhood hearsay or cross-roads hysteria.

There is no doubt that the farmers, especially those of New England, who are closely surrounded by industrial enterprises bidding high for all the workers they can get, are placed at a disadvantage in some respects, but most of them are facing the situation courageously, while many are adding to their bank accounts in a way which makes them anything but subjects for commiseration.

There is nothing to warrant the fear of a food shortage. When comes the harvest time there will be enough and to spare. Prices may be high, but there will be plenty to eat. This country has never gone hungry in the past, and it is not going to begin now.

The inauguration of George Washington as first President of the United States was reproduced last Friday in Wall Street, New York, on the identical spot on which the original ceremony was performed. Wonder if any one thought of his words on the subject of "entangling alliances?"

The housing situation at Bath, Me., is to be relieved by the sale by the government of a large number of houses built there for workmen at the time of the war. This sale will offer a good opportunity to home seekers, and without doubt it will be cheerfully embraced.

The late Senator Gallinger of this state took great interest in the affairs of the District of Columbia, and now there is to be erected to his memory a splendid memorial hospital in Washington. This is a deserved recognition of a deserving man.

This is "Save money on meat week" in Massachusetts, this to be done by buying the cheaper cuts. Just what it will amount to time will tell, but it is reasonable to presume that the packers are not lying awake nights over the possible results.

More than $3,000 was collected in fines in liquor cases by the United States District Court in Concord the other day. It is apparent that Demon Rum is to yield some revenue in spite of the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act.

It is the wrong time of year for the burning of summer resorts, and the loss of Laurel Lake Inn will be felt by many who have been in the habit of spending their vacations at that attractive place.

It is about time to be polishing up the garden and farm tools.

FEW COTTON MILL WORKERS RETURN TO WORK

Gates of New Bedford Plant Opened This Morning; Firemen Refuse to Join the Strikers.

(By Associated Press)

New Bedford, Mass., May 4.—The gates of all the cotton mills in this city were opened today and partial operations were conducted in each mill. The opening of the gates was the result of the claim of an increase in the number of those who took part in the walkout which began yesterday. The opening hour was marked by quiet, crowds on the street being small. Few operatives entered the mills, and picketing activities developed no conflict between strikers and workers. The mills of the Erie Brothers Ltd., and the Grinnell Manufacturing Company, which were closed yesterday, reopened today. In these and other plants affected by the strike, some card rooms were operated and some ring spinning was carried on with a little weaving, but virtually all the weavers were out. The mill firemen who were expected to bank their fires and quit today, were at their posts this morning. Officials of their union said that in many mills they were merely keeping up the fifty pounds of steam required by insurance underwriters.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the police can be sure that no auto will take much of a chance to speed on Vaughan street.

That the playing on that highway contains 55 holes between Congress and Deer streets.

That five of the big ones are grouped near the junction of Hanover and Vaughan streets.

That congressmen get some funny ones in the mills from their constituents.

That Congressman Venable of Mississippi is telling something rich in this line.

That he received the following from a man in his district: "I am thinking of raising goats and wish you would send me a pair."

That he hunted around for two weeks for goats and then replied: "I regret that the government has no goats for free distribution."

That this evidently got the voter's goat and he replied to the effect that: "I'm a hell of a government that ain't got no goats."

That a sailor wrote Congressman Copley of Illinois, the following: "No doubt you will be surprised to hear from me, but I want to ask a favor. Recently I went on liberty to Baltimore to see a friend, arriving Sunday morning. While walking along the street I saw a fight and naturally stopped. It grew worse and finally one fellow shot another. During the excitement the police rushed up and grabbed me as a witness. They kept me that night and the state attorney kept me two more days. When I got back to my ship I was held as a deserter and now am in the brig facing a courtmartial. Won't you get me out?"

That the local telephone exchange is said to have made toll connections from this city to Palm Beach, Fla., and St. Louis, Chicago and other points in the west.

That the conversation which took place was as clear as a connection between Portsmouth and Boston.

That a new baby in the home does not interest a boy half so much as a litter of pot rabbits in the barn.

That Billy Bryan's grape juice is liable to start fermentation at the democratic national convention.

That there have changed! The boy used to hide the cigarettes from his mother; now the mother hides her white cigars from the boy.

That the Board of Health is said to be collecting quite a little license as milk license fee.

That some of the farmers expressed surprise when they were called on to rent.

That they claimed they did not know that such a license was required.

That the laws of 1901 call for such and the health officials are carrying out the law.

That if a man is so poor he doesn't have to worry about the price of gasoline, he still has to worry about how fast the silk skirts and socks wear out.

That a man never gets his just desserts in the world, which is lucky for the man.

The suggestion of The Herald that the discarded rails and equipment of the North Hampton Branch of the local electric railroad be used in building a line from Market Square to Atlantic Heights, has met with the approval of about everybody residing in that section of the city; where The Herald is very popular. The Herald suggests that the people interested file a petition with the city council and also communicate with the officers of our bustling Chamber of Commerce to see just what can be done toward connecting this important section of the city with the downtown section with trolleys. This is a "bustle" project and everybody interested in the future of Portsmouth should get behind it.

The Herald suggests that the people interested file a petition with the city council and also communicate with the officers of our bustling Chamber of Commerce to see just what can be done toward connecting this important section of the city with the downtown section with trolleys. This is a "bustle" project and everybody interested in the future of Portsmouth should get behind it.

The suggestion of The Herald that the discarded rails and equipment of the North Hampton Branch of the local electric railroad be used in building a line from Market Square to Atlantic Heights, has met with the approval of about everybody residing in that section of the city; where The Herald is very popular. WELL-KNOWN YOUNG MAN DEAD

Russell Badger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Badger of Maplewood avenue, died at the Green Cliff Sanatorium on Monday afternoon, where he has been a patient for some months. His death was sudden as he was reported to be making good improvement.

Mr. Badger was one of the best known young men of this city. He was born in this city 30 years ago and after graduating from the High School he entered the National Machine and Traders Bank as a clerk and worked there until he was taken ill some three months ago.

He was a good workman and a general favorite with the patrons of the bank and the general public. He was a member and for some time active in the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks and he was also a member of the Portsmouth Country Club.

He leaves besides his parents, who were with him Monday, two sisters, Mrs. Marion Harwood and Miss Edna Badger of this city and three brothers, D. Chester Badger, Volney C. and Walter A. Badger of this city. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Certified Milk

Is the ideal raw milk and is very desirable. It is reasonably safe but expensive and is not sold or produced in Portsmouth or immediate vicinity.

Farmers and dairymen know that tuberculosis occurs oftentimes even in the most expensive and best cared for herds of milk cows and because of this fact many breeders of fine stock insist that calves be fed only pasteurized milk.

Should milk for children and our own consumption be less safe-guarded?

CLEAN MILK PASTEURIZED

IS THE ONLY

ABSOLUTELY SAFE MILK

and is produced in Portsmouth in the most modern milk plant in New England and is sold at the same price as ordinary milk—16 cents per quart—which our central delivery and volume of business makes possible. It is more profitable for us to sell the raw milk (while the health laws permit it) and the customer is indifferent, but we recommend and prefer to sell a safe and sanitary product at a less profit.

We respectfully solicit your patronage and invite inspection of our plant.

ERNST TALKS TO LANGDON CLUB MEMBERS

The John Langdon Club held its first meeting for the season Monday evening at the North Church Chapel with a large attendance and pleasing features. The Portsmouth Song was rendered at the opening of the meeting all joining in the singing.

The speaker of the evening, Charles E. Ernst, of the Community Service Council, gave an interesting address on "Our Recreation as An Asset for Community Welfare." Mr. Ernst, was for eight years at the South End house and at the Settlement House in Boston and lecturer at the School of Social Workers in that city and was well fitted to talk on the subject.

He began his talk by saying that the word Community was made up of two Latin words—Com—meaning together and munitio—meaning for service, so that a city to be a Community must be an organization of citizens who are bound together for mutual service. In order to get the results it is necessary that we prepare citizens who will have this ideal of the community before them. Mr. Ernst pointed out that we have seen on the occasions of the great catastrophes—such as the San Francisco earthquake and the World War, that it is possible for people to forget differences and help themselves together for mutual welfare. He expressed confidence that we can become a community without such disasters. Mr. Ernst pointed out the fact that shorter hours of work and the passing of the school helped to keep many a working man home much more with his family and really emphasized the opportunity that exists today in living in new leisure time with activities that will give all-aid in new citizenship.

A social hour followed and refreshments of chicken patties, rolls, doughnuts, assorted cake and coffee were served.

SHATTUCK SHIP YARD NOTES

Thomas Lewis, of Wilton's Point, Connecticut, has succeeded P. A. Jager as Government representative of the Emergency Fleet at the Shattuck ship yard.

A. J. Jager, who has been storekeeper for the Shattuck yard since it started, has entered the employ of the American Dye-Stuffs Co. He has been a most competent and popular employee and his many friends will be pleased to learn that he is to continue here.

Four of the new brick buildings are completed and ready for business.

All of the 3500-ton ships with but one exception have been towed away.

PORTSMOUTH'S DUTY

The Salvation Army performs its duty in its own quiet way. It works constantly, patiently, persistently, for the good of the citizens of Portsmouth. It asks for no glory, no reward.

The Army must be supported. The people of the city ought to help.

It would be hard for the Army to raise ten thousand dollars.

It will be easy for the citizens to raise it, if each does his part.

Save some money for the Salvation Army.

HAM HELD FOR GRAND JURY WITHOUT BAIL

Reginald Ham was held without bail for the grand jury by Judge Gupilli in the Police Court on Monday afternoon, on the charge of manslaughter, resulting from the automobile accident Saturday night in which Clarence A. Parmenter was killed, by a car driven by Ham.

The hearing followed a refusal of the Court to sustain a motion of the City Solicitor that the hearing be continued for a week, and it was held on Monday afternoon. There were a number of witnesses heard but Ham was not put on the stand. Sergeant McLean, U. S. M. C. who saw the accident, and who testified that the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, Officer McLean and Kelley who arrested Ham and who testified that he was under the influence of liquor. Captain McCaffrey who testified as to Ham's condition when he was brought to the station. Fred Cull who was riding with him and who stated that they had been drinking and had made two trips to Pryor's place on Feverley Hill Road that night. He testified that he did not see the man until they were almost on him and he tried to grab the wheel but Mr. Ham's arm was in the way. Dr. Higgins who told of the death of Mr. Parmenter at the hospital and Medical Referee G. E. Pender and Dr. W. Luce who made the autopsy on the body of Mr. Parmenter.

Attorney J. L. Mitchell counsel for the defense did not offer any defense and Judge Gupilli ordered Ham held without bail for the grand jury. Later an attempt was made to get Judge Gupilli to let Ham go but he referred them to Judge Allen at Exeter today. City Solicitor Waldron conducted the state case and County Solicitor Skeper was present.

POLICE BOARD HOLDS MEETING

To Enforce Ordinance Protecting Passengers Getting Off Electric Cars.

The Police Commissioners met on Monday evening and carried out the routine business.

One junk license was granted. The matter of operation of vehicles on streets when the electric car line runs was brought up and the board discovered that among the city ordinances there was one requiring all vehicles to come to a stop when approaching electric cars where passengers are getting off.

The police were instructed to enforce this law especially on Market Square for the protection of the public.

The Public Works Department notified the Commission that it was been working on the matter of new street policemen and that they would shortly have them in place.

VETERAN FIREMEN SHOWING SOME PEP

New Blood in the Ranks, and Eureka Being Overhauled.

It looks as if the Veteran Firemen who handle the trucks on the famous old handbuilt Eureka are going to come back. The tub is now in the hands of George Prutton for some repairs and will later be overhauled by a machinist and new packing put in.

This activity puts new life in the boys and indicates that they have their eye on the big New England number which will take place at Portland on July 22.

It is whispered that quite a few young members have been added to the membership of the association and if the Eureka goes to Portland she ought to bring home a prize of the prize money. It can be done and why not do it? A little pep is all that is needed.

TIME TO ENFORCE THE AUTO LAWS

The unfortunate death of Clarence A. Parmenter on Saturday night as the result of being struck by an automobile should serve as a warning to many drivers of autos in this city. That one or two are not run over every day is the wonder from the way cars are rushed through our narrow streets. With the increase in the number of machines, more stringent rules must be adopted. The Herald suggests that it should be made more difficult for some drivers to obtain a license.
